The Numbers Station: John Cusack, Malin Akerman under siege in new trailer

<http://www.digitalspy.co.uk/movies/news/a458417/numbers-station-john-cusack-malin-akerman-under-siege-in-new-trailer.html>

The film stars John Cusack as a disaffected CIA agent who is given one last chance to prove himself. He is given the task of protecting Katherine (Malin Akerman), the operator of a top secret Numbers Station that broadcasts encrypted messages to operatives. When the station is compromised, the pair must work together to prevent a global disaster.

Kasper Barfoed has directed the film from the script by F. Scott Frazier.

VOICE STATIONS

E07

Spectre noticed that E07a appears to have changed its 3 figure code key format to a 4 figure code key format, much like some or most M12 stations. The last 2 messages from the station, one on Saturday 23rd 0900 UTC, Wednesday 27th 2100 UTC and Thursday 28th 0530 UTC all had a 4 figure code key instead of a 3 figure code key. Maybe they have updated their decoding software to a standardised format. Time will tell if that is the case.

EV02 - US military voice loop

I completely forgot to mention this one last month. The station was heard by a number of dxers in the USA. The transmissions had a strong resemblance to the former Yosemity Sam station. I wonder if there is a connection of Homer, Yosemity Sam and the military loop transmissions (EV02).

The station transmitted a loop recording of Homer Simpson and was heard on three frequencies: 8051.5, 12088.5, 13570 and 17461.5 kHz. I read on HF Underground that it was also heard in June 2012 on 8051.5 kHz. The

JP comments the following on M89's traffic:

Messages usually contain 99, 199 or 299 groups

1. The more groups, the faster the message is sent
2. Messages by QV5B, GNXG, DRV8, CZT2, 3A7D, and 2SLC on their normal broadcast frequencies are normally electronically sent. Because of this, if you miss the message header, you can guess what the group count for the message was.
3. Messages with 99 groups take 5 minutes, 199 groups take 10 minutes, and 299 groups takes 15 minutes. So the above message was probably a 299 group message. Not scientific, but pretty close from my observations thus far.

After a discussion on UDXF we received interesting logs and comments from Peter and Trond. Peter logged a number of T600 transmissions and found several synchronization strings in use on the same transmitter, possibly used for several encryption levels or message types. The locations in his logs are tentative based on ITU bearings.

Trond sorted the strings and comments: "The distribution of the ITU estimated sources, sync string and frequencies makes me wonder if the Russians use an automated routing system based on frequency availability, MUF, location of recipient, etc, etc. Bearings taken from here indicate 15778 and 20536 to be in the Black Sea area (Sevastopol). 12610 and 12590 indicates a location in the north, most likely Severomorsk area on the Kola peninsula, - the same origin as for 9224. And finally I have indications that 8006 (not in your list) and 16234 originate from the area of St.Petersburg."

Corrections to Tony's January Polish Air Force logs. Thanks to Maciej for the translations and to Tony for the logs.

Tony says "Here's the translations I mentioned for January. Pretty much as in the newsletter but there's a change to the callsigns". Tony heard "to" which was in fact "tu" which means "this is". This means that 3VM was not calling 3NQ, it was the other way round and 3NQ calling 3VM: "3VM tu 3NQ". So the collective callsign was 3VM (actually 4VM it turns out)

Intelligence profile

Colombia

BACKGROUND

Colombia was one of the three countries that emerged from the collapse of Gran Colombia in 1830 (the others are Ecuador and Venezuela). A four-decade long conflict between government forces and anti-government insurgent groups, principally the Revolutionary Armed Forces of Colombia (FARC) heavily funded by the drug trade, escalated during the 1990s. The insurgents lack the military or popular support necessary to overthrow the government, and violence has been decreasing since about 2002. However, insurgents continue attacks against civilians and large areas of the countryside are under guerrilla influence or are contested by security forces. More than 31,000 former paramilitaries had demobilized by the end of 2006 and the United Self Defense Forces of Colombia (AUC) as a formal organization had ceased to function. In the wake of the paramilitary demobilization, emerging criminal groups arose, whose members include some former paramilitaries. The Colombian Government has stepped up efforts to reassert government control throughout the country, and now has a presence in every one of its administrative departments.

DAS' role was tasked in several areas, as it was responsible for providing security to state institutions and personalities, providing judiciary police services and serving as a counter-intelligence service to both external and internal threats. DAS in addition had the purposes of immigration control including issuing visas.

Article 38 of Decree 218 from 2000 states that all employees of DAS had the function of intelligence agents. DAS worked with the Drug Enforcement Administration(DEA), a United States agency against drugs.

In late 2011 Colombian President Juan Manuel Santos announced that the DAS was to be replaced by a new agency, the National Directorate of Intelligence(DNI). The purpose of the new agency will solely be gathering intelligence. However, at the time of writing (Jan.2013) DAS is still alive and kicking.

According to several sources the new name of DAS is now Agencia Central de Inteligencia de Colombia, (ACI). The agency's website does not mention it, though.

The Directorate of Intelligence has four branches.

- Operations Branch: Responsible for intelligence collection, and dissemination of information about people, events and situations that can influence political behavior, economic and social or public order and state security.
 - Counterintelligence Branch: Its main function is to establish the implementation of active and passive counter-intelligence in order to detect, neutralize and counter intelligence activities of different adversaries seeking to obtain classified information, to protect people and facilities against sabotage or equipment.

Junta de Inteligencia Conjunta (JIC)

Trying to overcome the limitations faced by the national intelligence system and within its "defense policy and democratic security", the government implemented an instance-Joint Intelligence Committee, which will bring together law enforcement agencies in the nation and coordinate the national strategic intelligence to the President and the Minister of Defence to access consolidated analysis for effective decision making, harmonizing the distribution of tasks, promoting specialization, horizontal exchange of information and joint outreach successes operational, in order to raise levels of interoperability, for which the Boards have also formed regional intelligence (attached to the JIC), in each department of Colombia.

Dirección de Inteligencia de la Policía (DIPOL)

DIPOL was created in 1995. It includes several departments.

- The Telematic Service
 - The Planning Department
 - The Center of Intelligence; whose role is to develop research and strategic studies and prospective social, political, economic and cultural, to help guide decision making of the National Government.
 - The Center of Intelligence Data Protection: responsible for receiving and distributing domestically and in a timely and controlled intelligence information from the regional, sectional and other state security agencies.
 - The Department of International Cooperation coordinates the exchange of information with international agencies in Intelligence
 - The Department Intelligence Branch consists of:
 - Intelligence Production Area: composed of the intelligence analysis group and the group of signal and image processing.
 - Counterintelligence Area: composed of the internal security group, the risk assessment group and the group of internal affairs.
 - Technical Operations Area: composed of the operational process group and the group of human sources.
 - Financial and Administrative Area: composed of the group of human talent, the support group to the police service, the financial group and the group of recruitment.

Unidad de Inteligencia Financiera de Colombia

The Treasury's UIAF (The Unit of Information and Financial Analysis or UIAF) was created in 1999 and was formed to combat money laundering. The UIAF has broad powers to investigate illegal activity related to drug trafficking, kidnapping, rebellion, extortion, and illicit enrichment.

Cuerpo Técnico de Investigación (CTI) de la Fiscalía

The CTI collects and analyzes information in order to bring criminals to justice and does manage some HUMINT sources

Military intelligence

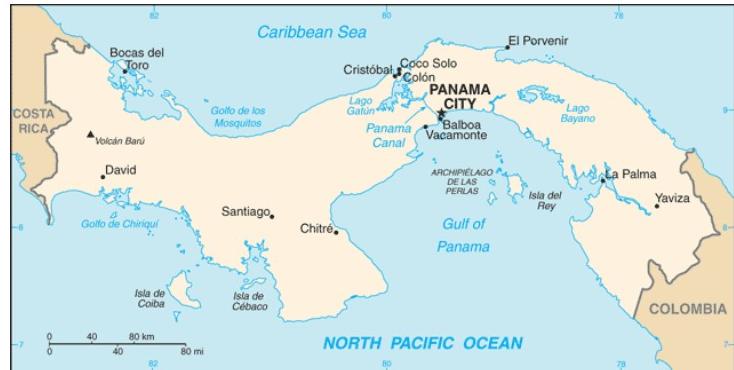

The military services each have their own intelligence organizations including a joint intelligence organization, the Centro de Inteligencia Conjunto (D-2), which is responsible for coordinating all military intelligence and a joint intelligence center at Tres Esquinas Military Base, which is primarily focused on drug-related intelligence.

Intelligence profile Panama

BACKGROUND

Explored and settled by the Spanish in the 16th century, Panama broke with Spain in 1821 and joined a union of Colombia, Ecuador, and Venezuela - named the Republic of Gran Colombia. When the latter dissolved in 1830, Panama remained part of Colombia. With US backing, Panama seceded from Colombia in 1903 and promptly signed a treaty with the US allowing for the construction of a canal and US sovereignty over a strip of land on either side of the structure (the Panama Canal Zone). The Panama Canal was built by the US Army Corps of Engineers between 1904 and 1914. In 1977, an agreement was signed for the complete transfer of the Canal from the US to Panama by the end of the century. Certain portions of the Zone and increasing responsibility over the Canal were turned over in the subsequent decades. With US help, dictator Manuel NORIEGA was deposed in 1989. The entire Panama Canal, the area supporting the Canal, and remaining US military bases were transferred to Panama by the end of 1999.

Intelligence profile Peru

BACKGROUND

Ancient Peru was the seat of several prominent Andean civilizations, most notably that of the Incas whose empire was captured by the Spanish conquistadors in 1533. Peruvian independence was declared in 1821, and remaining Spanish forces were defeated in 1824. After a dozen years of military rule, Peru returned to democratic leadership in 1980, but experienced economic problems and the growth of a violent insurgency. President Alberto FUJIMORI's election in 1990 ushered in a decade that saw a dramatic turnaround in the economy and significant progress in curtailing guerrilla activity. Nevertheless, the president's increasing reliance on authoritarian measures and an economic slump in the late 1990s generated mounting dissatisfaction with his regime, which led to his ouster in 2000. A caretaker government oversaw new elections in the spring of 2001, which ushered in Alejandro TOLEDO Manrique as the new head of government - Peru's first democratically elected president of Native American ethnicity. The presidential election of 2006 saw the return of Alan GARCIA Perez who, after a disappointing presidential term from 1985 to 1990, has overseen a robust macroeconomic performance. In June 2011, former army officer Ollanta HUMALA Tasso was elected president, defeating Keiko FUJIMORI Higuchi, the daughter of Alberto FUJIMORI. Since his election, HUMALA has carried on the sound, market-oriented economic policies of the three preceding administrations.

Legislative Decree No. 371 "Code of the police force" laid the foundations for the definitive establishment of the National Police of Peru.

The Policía Nacional del Perú (PNP) is the national police force of Peru. Its jurisdiction covers the nation's land, sea, and air territories. Formed from the merger of the Investigative Police, the Civil Guard, and the Republican Guard in 1988, it is one of the largest police forces in Latin America. Its mission is to preserve domestic order, public order, and national security, in order to enforce the law and protect the people of Peru. The PNP is controlled by the Peruvian Interior Ministry. The PNP has a number of divisions including DINOES (Special Operations), DINANDRO (Anti-Narcotics Unit), DININCRI (Criminal Investigations), and DIRCOTE (Anti-Terrorism).

Peru's military intelligence community is organized within the nation's army and administered by Army Intelligence Directorate (DINTE). The Army Intelligence Service (SIE) focuses on foreign intelligence and the protection of military installations. In addition, individual military units in the Peruvian navy and air force may maintain their own strategic intelligence forces.
